This Is Shown in Increased Number of Applicants and Improvement in Papers.

Public Instruction Eggleston, looking over the examination papers of the vast army of applicants for positions in the public schools of the Blate. There are 1,500 applicants, and so far as the looking over of the papers has already gone. Mr. Eggleston says there is a far greater percentage of successful candidates than there was in the May examination. He attributes this to the fact that a great many teachers attended the summer institutes, showing, for example, that out of 170 who attended the Emory Institute, 140 took the examination, and only five failed to get certificates. There has been some little talk about the fact that a large number of applicants in the earlier examination failed to secure first grade cartificates; but this is explained by the fact that the majority of them were new applicants and did not try for first grade certificates, seeking only certificates of the second or third grades.

New Experiment Station.

The State Board of Agriculture and Emigration is scheduled to meet in this city on Tuesday, the 14th Instant. There will be several important questions to come up for decision, one of the most important being the establishment of an experiment station near Norfolk. The Tidewater people are very anxlous to have an experiment station established in their section, and it is very likely that the board will defer to their wishes, especially as there is generally felt to be a great need for such a station in the greatest trucking section of the State.
